North Korea Told To Curb 'Bloodthirsty Marauders'

New Committee On Ethics Voted For Legislature

LANSING (AP)—Establishment of a three-member bipartisan committee on ethics may be proposed to the legislature to review questions of conflict of interest involving state officers and lawmakers.

The proposal was approved tentatively Friday by a joint legislative subcommittee planning for implementation of the administrative agency and executive provisions of the state's new Constitution, which goes into effect Jan. 1.

Under the plan, the ethics committee would be named by the governor to serve under the attorney general's office. It could issue advisory opinions in advance on possible conflicts of interest and make findings where an official is accused of such an offense.

Decisions of the committee would be based on a code of ethics to be formulated by the legislature.

No more than two of the three members of the ethics committee would be from the same political party and their length of term would be at the pleasure of the governor.

If the committee decided that a conflict of interest existed in the case of a contract with the state, the agreement could be declared void. A provision would be included, however, which would allow a contractor to recover money already spent on a project—but not to make a profit.

In drawing up a code of ethics, the legislature would establish a statutory definition of a "state officer" and describe the transactions, conduct and actions that would create a conflict of interest.

Civil Rights Bill Hearings Finished

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedys civil rights program has passed the first turn in the long, winding road toward enactment—completion of lengthy hearings by two congressional committes.

The committees are expected to start writing their bills soon.

The prospect in the House is that the floor batter over civil rights legislation won't be joined until after Labor Day. The outlook in the Senate is even cloudier.

The House Judiciary Committee concluded three months of hearings on the President's seven-point program Friday while the Senate Commerce Committee was winding up five weeks of hearings on one plank—a bill to prohibit racial discrimination in places of public accommodations.

The accommodations section was separated from the rest of the program in the Senate in an effort for quicker action than could be expected from the Senate Judiciary Committee, long the burial ground for civil rights measures. The committee has been holding hearings on the other points with no sign of a windup in view.

Commerce Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., will decide when his group is to start its closed deliberations. Magnuson, who has been ill, is expected to set an early date.

On the House side, Judiciary Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said his group would not start its work on the legislation for a couple of weeks. And the word from House leaders was that the tax reduction and revision bill would be brought up for action ahead of civil rights.

Plumber Buried In Dirt Rescue

KALAMAZOO (AP)—A Mattawan father of three owed his life today to a friend who frantically pulled dirt away from his face after a quarter of ton of sand fell on him.

"I thought my number was up for sure," said Kenneth Tozer, peering into the 8-foot deep trench and sipping a cup of coffee.

The 41-year-old self employed plumbing contractor was crushed over some sewer pipes in the narrow pit when a side caved in yesterday. The 3-foot wide culvert runs from the street to the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Schippers at 530 Liberty.

Mrs Schippers saw the cave-in and yelled for help from Chris Beeke, an excavator who was working in the backyard. Beeke shoveled dirt away until he reached Tozer. Then he clawed the rest of the dirt away with his hands.

"I saw his fingers wiggling, so I grabbed his wrist and followed it down," Beeke said.

Meanwhile, Tozer said he had begun saying his prayers —"I could feel myself blacking out."

When Kalamazoo firemen arrived, they put oxygen on Tozer's face while he was still in the hole and placed a rope around his waist as a precaution against the side caving in again. Then they hauled him out.

"I thought I broke a leg, but it must have been just the weight of the sand. I guess this is my only injury," said Tozer, pointing to a bruise on the inside of his elbow.

Tozer said he didn't think he'd do much work the rest of the day.

"Money isn't that important," he said. "I'm just glad I'm alive."

Canada To Twin Welland Canal

DETROIT (AP) — Transport Minister George J. McIlraith announced Friday the government plans to proceed immediately with a five-year, $180 million project to twin the Welland Canal between Lake Ontario and Lake Erie.

McIlraith said a new lock also would be built at Cornwall, Ont., "as soon as studies indicate it is warranted."

This lock — when undertaken—would make the St. Lawrence Seaway an all-Canadian Route from Montreal through into the Great Lakes.

McIlraith said the twinning of five locks in the 27-mile Welland Canal will increase the capacity of the waterway by 60 per cent and eliminate congestion, which has delayed traffic in recent years.

The locks to be twined are numbers 1, 2, 3, 7 and 8. Work will start this year but the major project will commence in the fall of 1964 and continue until 1968.

Sabotage Seen As Wreck Kills 30 In Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) —At least 30 persons were killed and more than 100 injured Friday night in a passenger train derailment which the state-owned railroad said was staged by saboteurs.

The three-coach train, carrying 200 passengers, veered onto a siding at 45 miles an hour and smashed into freight cars parked at a fertilizer plant.

Crews worked through the night to rescue passengers trapped in the twisted coaches along the little-used siding in a suburb eight miles from Montevideo.

Juan C. Funes, president of Uruguay's National Railroad, said that "criminal hands forced the lock of the track points system" and held the switch open by placing stones between the rails and the switch lever, shunting the train onto the siding.

Another railroad official said the saboteurs also had placed heavy rcks on the tracks.

Engineer Nestor Martinez said he had seen the switch was pointed the wrong way about 20 yards before the train reached the siding. He said he slammed on the brake but it was too late.

The coaches snapped from the locomotive and were smashed. The engine hurtled into the freight cars.

The siding turns off the main track at a sharp angle. Martinez said freight trains using the siding negotiate the turn at 10 miles an hour.

Bodies were taken to a nearby army barracks and morgues for identification.

Railroad detectives said the sabotage had been planned meticulously but they had no idea who had done it.

The train was on a 60-mile run from Montevieo to Casupa, a small town in Canelones Province.

Soldiers Battle Wildlife Refuge Fire In Oklahoma

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—Soldiers manned bulldozers and helicopters Friday night in an effort to contain a range fire which whipped across thousands of acres of grassland in the Wichita mountains wildlife refuge.

One soldier was hospitalized with a shoulder injury, and two others suffered minor injuries. Several ranchers reported livestock missing, and refuge officials said some deer and buffalo died in the fire.

By early this morning, the fire had blackened nearly 6,000 acres, and was confined to the slopes of Mount Sheridan.

Two resort areas have been damaged, and the Holy City, site of a Easter sunrise pageant, was threatened for a time.

About 1,850 troops from nearby Ft. Sill were sent to fight the blaze with bulldozers. Helicopters kept watch over the area as small animals with burning fur spread the flames.

James M. Landis, former dean of the Harvard Law School, pleaded guilty in federal court in New York City to income tax charges. Landis, 63, has held high government posts and was a special assistant to President Kennedy in 1961. He was charged with failure to file income tax returns for the years 1956 through 1960. Adviser Landis Faces Sentence On Tax Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—James M. Landis, adviser to presidents and outspoken critic of unethical practices by heads of government agencies, will be sentenced Aug. 30 on federal charges of not filing income tax returns.

The former Harvard University Law School dean, who headed three federal agencies at various times, pleaded guilty Friday to charges that he had failed to file returns from 1956-60, a period when his income was said to exceed $360,000.

Could Get 5 Years

Landis, 63, has paid the government $94,492—three-fourths of it the taxes due and the rest penalties and interest.

He could draw as much as five years in prison.

U.S. Atty, Robert M. Morgenthau, who brought the case against Landis, is the son of former Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr., a colleague of the defendant during the New Deal days of the 1930s.

Asked if Landis had paid his taxes before or after the government investigation of them, Morgenthau replied that prosecution usually does not result if delinquent taxes are paid before the Internal Revenue Service gets onto them.

The federal grand jury's five-count information against Landis was announced to the press only after Landis had been arraigned before U.S. Dist. Court Judge Edward C. McLean. McLean released Landis in his own custody on guilty pleas to each count.

Named In Divorce Suit

In a statement read to the court, Landis' attorney, William Warren, dean of the Columbia University Law School, said his client had become so engrossed in public affairs he never got around to filing tax returns for the five years until after the IRS prompted him.

Landis has headed the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Civil Aeronautics Board, and the wartime Office of Civilian Defense. He also was a member of the Federal Trade Commission.

His last government post was as adviser to President Kennedy on government regulatory agencies. Landis resigned Sept. 7, 1961, the day he was named corespondent in a Washington divorce suit, later dropped. Adultery allegations against Landis were never substantiated.

Peking Predicts End Of Khrushchev

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China predicted today that Premier Khrushchev's "betrayal of the Soviet people" in agreeing to a nuclear test-ban treaty will lead to his downfall.

An editorial in the Peking People's Daily, voice of the Chinese Communist party, called the test ban "a U.S.-Soviet alliance against China, pure and simple."

Epochal Nuclear Test Ban Signing Set For Monday

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home fly to Moscow today for historic nuclear test ban signing ceremonies and vital exploratory talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The foreign policy chiefs were accompanied by parties of top advisers and specialists in East-West relations. Rusk's party also includes a bipartisan delegation of top Senate leaders.

Among the array of international figures expected for the signing ceremonies Monday afternoon will be U.N. Secretary-General U Thant. He has been invited to fly to Moscow to witness the signing.

The ceremonies in the Grand Kremlin Palace will be broadcast over a Soviet-bloc television hookup and to Western Europe. They will be followed by a lavish reception in the Kremlin at which Khrushchev is expected to preside.

Rusk and Home are expected to meet with Khrushchev for talks on future steps in relaxing cold-war tensions after the signing.

Rusk, as the first American secretary of state to visit Moscow since the late George C. Marshall was here in 1947, has been invited to stay on for a few days as Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's guest.

Khrushchev was reported to be planning to invite Rusk and his wife to visit the premier's Black Sea vacation home. But the U.S. Embassy said it knew nothing of such a plan and that it tentatively had scheduled a sightseeing trip to Leningrad for Wednesday.

The talks are expected to concentrate on the nonaggression pact Khrushchev wants NATO and the Warsaw pact alliances to sign.

French President Charles de Gaulle's refusal to sign such a treaty appeared to doom this project. But President Kennedy and W. Averell Harriman, undersecretary of state for political affairs, who negotiated the test ban, have indicated that a way could be found around the Paris roadblock.

Some Western observers here expect Rusk to sound out Khrushchev on the possibility of settling for a formal declaration of nonaggression made independently by both military alliances.

Hurricane Arlene Skips Island Area

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Arlene, the first of the season, whipped the tropical Atlantic with winds of 100 miles an hour today, but caused little damage.

She was 925 miles east-southeast of San Juan, P.R., a safe distance from densely inhabited islands and heavily traveled shipping lanes.

One small craft reported itself in trouble north of Puerto Rico, but at last check she was being escorted to port by a Coast Guard vessel.

At dawn, the Weather Bureau said Arlene was moving west-northwest at 12 m.p.h.

Winds up to 100 miles per hour whirled around a small area near the center and gale force winds extended 175 miles in the northern semicircle and 75 miles in the southern semicircle.

"Little change in size or intensity of the storm is expected during the next 12 to 24 hours," the Weather Bureau said.

Hurricane hunter planes flew into the vortex of the storm from Puerto Rico and continued observations at close range throughout the night.

The storm was days away from the United States and forecasters said it was too early to speculate on whether it would ever strike land.

The hurricane grew out of a suspicious area in the central Atlantic which the Tiros weather satellite spotted Wednesday.

When a plane piloted by Lt. Peter J. Gross of Pocahontas, Iowa, flew into the area early Friday, he found winds up to 100 miles per hour, 25 more than the minimum for a hurricane.

Sailor Admits Stabbing Couple

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police said Friday that Kenneth Shaw, 21, a sailor from Acme, Mich., admitted in San Francisco city prison Thursday he stabbed a 21-year-old airman and his date July 19 in San Ffrancisco.

Shaw was stationed aboard the U.S.S. Theodore Chandler, docked at Hunter's Point naval yard, San Francisco, at the time the stabbings occurred.

David Isen, 25, Castle Air Force Base, Merced, Calif., and Freida Santiago, 25, San Francisco, saw Shaw inside a convertible near Miss Santiago's apartment house. Shaw was cutting the car's top with a bosun's knife.

The pair went to the car to investigate, police said, and Shaw leaped from within and began swinging his knife, before jumping into his own car and driving away.

Isen was taken to Oak Knoll Naval Hospital in Oakland, where doctors said his spleen had to be removed to save his life.

Miss Santiago, who was severely cut on the face and in the abdomen, was hospitalized for a week, and is receiving treatment at a San Francisco hospital.

Boat Blows Up; 12 Aboard Saved

DETROIT (AP) — Nine persons were injured today in a cabin cruiser explosion that ended in near-disaster a Lake St. Clair outing of 12 Michigan young people.

The cruiser exploded and burned of Riverside, Ont., at the mouth of the Detroit River, after a refuelling stop.

Bystanders and police hauled screaming victims out of 15 feet of water as the burning boat shot flames 40 feet into the air, illuminating the lake and river between Peach Island and the Canadian shore.

Five women and one man were hospitalized for treatment of burns and shock and were described as in fair condition. Three others were released after treatment for burns. The three remaining passengers required no more than first aid.

Riverside police said quick rescue measures by bystanders and the men aboard the 22-foot inboard motorboat undoubtedly prevented a first-class tragedy.

Russell Certo, 26, of Garden City, said the explosion happened when he pushed the starter button after the boat had refueled at the dock of Thomas Edgewater Inn.

Authorities surmized gasoline fumes accumulated in the engine compartment when the boat was refueled.

Killer Locked Up In Drive On Mafia

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Italy's relentless anti-mafia campaign had under lock and key today a suspected professional executioner for the underworld society.

Police disclosed Friday the arrest of Antonio (Little Pigs) Porcelli. They said he was the hired executioner suspected of killing a rival leader in a gang war.

Police said their month-old crackdown on the mafia has yielded 2,000 persons for questioning, with 600 held in Sicilian jails.

More Fighting Breaks Out In Armistice Zone

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — Amid reports of new fighting on the uneasy Korean truce line, the U.N. Command warned today that Communist North Korea must curb its "bloodthirsty marauders" immediately or it will invite its own destruction.

Maj. Gen. George H. Cloud, senior delegate from the U.N. Command on the armistice commission, charged the North Koreans with deliberate, malicious assaults in U.N.-controlled territory which have killed three Americans and wounded a fourth since July 29.

North Korea brushed aside the charges as "fabrications" in one of the hottest exchanges in 10 years of armistice commission meetings.

Americans Withdraw

Earlier Cloud said Communist troops had intruded into the U.N. Command portion of the demilitarized zone at 4:30 a.m. today and fresh firing had broken out between American and Communist troops.

Cloud said the clash had taken place about 500 yards south of the military demarcation line running through the center of the demilitarized zone. He did not elaborate and mentioned no casualties.

An American officer told newsmen outside the armistice meeting that he had thrown eight hand grenades in the latest reported clash. He said an American patrol had been flanked in the fighting and forced to withdraw.

From this officer's account, it appeared there were no casualties on either side.

No major casualties were reported on either side. An American soldier was treated for a shrapnel splinter in one hand, but it was believed possible it came from a U.S. grenade.

Cloud, a Marine, said 50 Soviet-made cartridge cases had been found at the scene along with an unexploded Soviet-type grenade. Two hand grenades exploded, he said.

Started July 29

The U.N. side called the armistice commission meeting to accuse the Communists of a series of provocations that began July 29 when a U.N. jeep was ambushed in U.N. territory. Two Americans were killed and a third wounded.

The next day a fourth American soldier and a South Korean policeman were killed in a clash directly south of the first ambush. Four North Korean soldiers were slain in this encounter.

Cloud called the incidents a Communist "route of terror and bloodshed."

Then he warned: "If it is not your side's intention to destroy itself, I demand that you take the following actions without delay:"

"1. Prevent your bloodthirsty marauders from entering our portion of the DMZ (demilitarized zone; and the territory under the control of our side.

"2. Take immediate steps to keep your murdering bandits under control and on your side of the military demarcation line.

"3. Punish severely all those killers of your side who participated in these intrusions, ambushes and murders.

"4. Punish those leaders of your side who planned and ordered such bestial, unprovoked actions.

"5. Begin complying with every provision of the armistice agreement which your side has so flagrantly violated for over 10 years.

"The patience of the people of Korea, the U.N. Command and the world is not without limits. I demand that your side provide positive assurances that these provocations will cease and that your side will begin to comply with the armistice agreement," signed July 27, 1953.

Gen. Chong Hwang Chang, the North Korean delegate, said his side had investigated the chages, which he called "fabrications."

China Gets Wheat

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada will deliver about $300 million worth of wheat to Red China under a three-year agreement beginning Aug. 1, the Trade Ministry announced Friday.

Under the agreement, similar to one the two nations negotiated in 1961, China will buy 112-186.7 million bushels of Canadian wheat.

Russia Promotes Peace In India

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev is eager to prevent renewed fighting between India and Red China, R.K. Nehru, a ranking member of the Indian Foreign Ministry, told newsmen Friday.

But he refused to comment on reports that Russia has offered India ground-to-ground and ground-to-air missiles. He said he had not discussed details of military aid in talks with Khrushchev and other Soviet officials.

Piece Of Satellite Found In Ontario

LONDON, Ont. (AP) — A 32-pound object found on an Ontario farm last October apparently is part of the Cosmos III research satellite the Soviet Union launched April 23, 1962, a Canadian physicist reports.

Dr. Charles Carmichael, associate professor of physics at the University of Western Ontario, said he believed the object, about 2 feet square and 10 inches deep, was part of the Sputnik's heat shield. He described it as "a dirty piece of glass" with "a little bit of everything in it."

Police Arrest 49 After South Side Melee In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—At least 49 persons, including 22 juveniles, were arrested Friday night as racial tension continued for the fifth successive evening on Chicago's South Side.

One policeman was slightly injured by a bottle thrown from a crowd which has been protesting the presence of three Negro families in a previously all-white area.

Edwin Marciniak, executive director of the Chicago Commission on Human Relations, said the atmosphere in the troubled Englewood district around 57th Street and Morgan, did not appear as tense as earlier in the week.

During the 24 hour period ending at midnight, more than 100 persons had been arrested for some form of racial protest.

London Playboy's Drug Dose Fatal

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Stephen Ward died today, unaware he was convicted on two vice charges in Britain's biggest sex and political scandal of the 20th century.

His life ebbed away at 3:50 p.m. (9:50 a.m. EST) in a flower-filled but guarded room at St. Stephen's Hospital where he was rushed Wednesday suffering from a massive overdose of drugs.

Only death enabled the 50-year-old society osteopath and artist to prevent the law running its full course.

Ward swallowed his fatal overdose Wednesday morning—only a few hours before the final day of his trial resumed.

In his absence, the judge completed his final address and the jury of 11 men and one woman convicted Ward on two of five counts charging this slim and elegant man with operating a high society sex circus.

Only sentencing was deferred until such time as Ward was fit to appear in court.

The jury convicted him of living off the earnings of Mandy Rice-Davies, 18, and Christine Keeler, 21. They were party girls who traveled in high levels of society.

Miss Keeler, long a friend of Ward, testified against him about her liaison with John D. Profumo, who resigned as minister of war because of the scandal. Ward introduced them.

Ward spent his last days in a private hospital room watched night and day by a prison officer. He never recovered consciousness.

Soon after admission, he contracted bronchial pneumonia. Surgeons performed an operation on his throat to aid his breathing. He was aided to the end by a breathing apparatus attached by tubes to the incision in his throat.

Deer Hunt Laws, More Park Lands On State Agenda

Michigan's Conservation Commission meets at Cadillac Aug. 8-9 with deer hunting recommendations high on the list of items that will come up for its consideration.

The Conservation Department is proposing a fall take of 60,000 surplus anterless whitetails in northern Michigan during this year's firearm deer season. Its recommendations call for harvesting about 17,000 anterless deer in the Upper Peninsula and 43,000 in the northern Lower Peninsula where winter-food shortages and crop-damage problems exist.

Commission action will be sought to authorize a $2.5 million sale of state park revenue bonds in October. Department officials will also ask the Commission to approve an application for a sizeable federal grant that would be used to acquire state park lands. Under terms of the Housing and Home Finance Act of 1961, the state is eligible to receive a 30-per cent reimbursement for the total cost of buying open-space lands in populous areas of southern Michigan. The Department plans to spend approximately $1 million for new park lands in this part of the state.

The Commission will review results of recent public hearings on commercial fishing regulations and consider Department recommendations which would remove the closed season and minimum size limit on suckers, and liberalize use of trawls in Lake Michigan.

The two-day meeting will be held in the Conference Room of Caberfae Lodge of Cadillac. The informal session will begin at 1:30 p. m., Aug. 8, while the formal meeting will get underway at 9 a. m. on the following day.

Nearly a full complement of 65 teachers from Michigan will gather at Camp Shaw near Chatham Sunday afternoon, Aug. 4 for a week of intensive study in natural resource-use and management. About half of the teachers come from Lower Michigan while the remainder represent nearly every Upper Peninsula county.

The teachers, both men and women, represent nearly every grade and subject matter area and are sponsored by garden clubs, service clubs, sportsmen's clubs, soil conservation districts, and boards of education.

They will learn about natural resources through lecture, discussion and field trips from the standpoints of recreation, natural history and economics. Eighteen resource people conducting the program represent four universities, three state agencies, one federal agency and two private businesses.

One hour graduate or undergraduate credit will be granted through Northern Michigan or Eastern Michigan University and the credit students will be evaluated by Dr. Alfred Niemi of Northern Michigan University.

Among the teachers from this area who will attend are:

Duck Production Rated Excellent

WINNIPEG — Waterfowl production from the prairie provinces of Canada this year has been excellent, the best since 1957.

June brood counts show substantial increases from 1962. Information from July brood counts is not complete but reports from the field indicate overall production has been high. Waterfowl conditions generally have improved steadily since early spring and, while there are still areas with a limited water supply, there will be no loss of broods from drought. Species-wise, pintail and scaup have had an excellent year. Mallard, gadwall, baldpate, canvasback and redhead have also done very well and should show up in increased numbers in the fall flights reports Duck Unlimited.

Tourist Traffic In Peninsula Up Almost Everywhere

An increase in tourist traffic and resort patronage is being enjoyed by nearly all sections of Upper Michigan this summer, reports the Upper Michigan Tourist Association.

The upturn, variously estimated at from two to three per cent up to 25 per cent, bears out preseason predictions that — given good weather — the vacation trade would climb. Generally, Chamber of Commerce and other tourist promotion officials figure comprehensive advertising programs and increased publicity at Midwest vacation and travel shows last winter and spring, combined with excellent weather in July, helped step up tourism.

Weather Bureau figures showed Upper Michigan had a pleasant July, with the sun shining 71 per cent of the time. Warm daytime temperatures moderated at night. Rain fell in measurable quantities on only five days.

"Weather is an especially important factor for Mackinac Island," Dennis Cawthorne, secretary-manager of the Chamber there, declared. "The total absence of rain for the period June 17 to July 10 was a tremendous factor" (in upping tourist patronage on the island from two to three per cent over 1962.)

A survey by the Tourist Association revealed that, with the exception of the Iron River-Crystal Falls area, tourist business is well ahead of 1962 for the Peninsula.

Bridge Traffic Up

Some of the indicies:

1. Vehicles crossing the Mackinac Bridge were 4.4 per cent over 1962 (232,900 compared to 243,170). Total increase for the year to date is 3.2 per cent, from 541,309 through July 31, 1962, to 558,596 this year.

2. A 64.5 per cent gain in travel between Michigan's and Canada's Sault Ste. Maries was reported by David W. Ripley, secretary-manager of the International Bridge Authority. July crossings totalled 127,584, compared with the 77,567 vehicles carried over the St. Mary's River by international ferries in the same month a year ago. Since the bridge was opened Oct. 31, 1962, 421,791 vehciles have moved over the bridge, and plans are being made to greet the 500,000 driver in mid-August.

3. The number of persons stopping at the State Highway Department's Tourist Information Center at Menominee climbed from 5,475 in June to 11,095 in July. Comparative figures for 1962 were unavailable, but Don Olson, center supervisor, estimated the increase over last year was from 25 to 30 per cent.

4. Attendance at the 14 state parks in Upper Michigan showed a sharp upturn, from 554,001 at this time in 1962 to 634,681 through the end of last month. The number of camping permits also was up, from 21,887 to 23,231, as was the number of turnaways (camping parties denied admitance because of lack of space), 2,947 to 3,335.

5. At the three observation platforms erected at the Soo Locks, 334,421 persons had been counted up to the end of July, a slight gain over the 330,507 who climbed the towers up to that date in 1962.

Area Reports

Chamber of Commerce estimates of tourism gains:

Manistique - Four per cent higher, with the number of persons visiting the area's most popular attraction — the Big Springs at Palms Book State Park — climbing 15 per cent over last year.

Marquette - Up from 7 to 8 per cent, with overnight accommodations showing a "decided increase."

Ironwood - Up 15 per cent to date, with registrations at the city welcome station up 60 per cent.

Menominee - Approximately 25 per cent higher, with Chamber inquiries up "perhaps because of interest in Menominee County's Centennial celebration."

"Top tourist business" was reported from Copper Harbor, at the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula.

Small World, Says Thai Student As She Aids Players

HOUGHTON — A pretty, young school teacher from Thailand took some time off from studying at Michigan Tech this week to lend a helping hand to the Keweenaw Playhouse.

Miss Bhani Visissobha, enrolled in a 10-week summer institute on computers sponsored by the National Science Foundation, was asked to serve as a technical consultant as the Playhouse opened "The King and I" Tuesday.

The musical is based on the book "Anna and the King of Siam," by Margaret Landon.

"He was our greatest king," said Miss Visissobha of the show's leading character. "He was the first monarch to open the doors of Siam to the West.

"Before ascending the throne," she explained, "he had been a Buddhist priest for 20 years. He knew English and, as shown in the musical, had a deep interest in science. He even taught himself astronomy from English texts. He was also deeply concerned about European foreign policy, and was the first Siamese king to send ambassadors abroad."

Milk Marketing Hearing On Aug. 8

A proposal to amend the Federal Milk Order for the Upper Peninsula marketing area will be considered at a hearing in Escanaba, Aug. 8, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announces.

The hearing at 10 a.m. in the State Office Building, has been requested by the Michigan Milk Producers Association, a cooperative association representing producers supplying milk to the area.

As proposed, the order would be amended to allow a cooperative association "handler" status on milk from its members' farms delivered in bulk tank to fluid milk plants of other handlers. In asking for the hearing, the cooperative said the proposed change in the order would make for more orderly marketing of milk from its producer members, which is intermingled with other milk in tank trucks delivering to different plants on a day-to-day basis.

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service said that after considering the hearing evidence, USDA may recommend amending the order. Interested parties then would be given oportunity to file exceptions or comments to the proposed amendment, before a final decision based on the hearing evidence is submitted to producers for approval.

Schedule Meeting Of Civil Service

The Escanaba Civil Service Commission will meet at 4 p. m. Monday, Aug. 5, in the City Hall. Milton Embs, administrative assistant, said items on the agenda are:

Appointment of a meter reader; report on Account Clerk II examination and appointment; and Line Foreman examination and appointment.

Resort Industry To Be Heard On Wage Law's Effect

The effects a minimum wage law would have on the resort industry, particularly as it would apply to seasonal operators, will be outlined for state legislators by the Upper Michigan Tourist Association at a hearing in Escanaba Aug. 13.

The hearing is one of 12 to be conducted throughout the state by a Senate-House study committee, according to Rep. Don Gordon (R-Leland), chairman. Only other UP session planned by the group will be on Mackinac Island Monday, Aug. 12.

Both employes and employers have been invited to testify at the hearings, to provide information that will help the committee shape its report to the State Legislature next January. Each witness will be restricted to 10 minutes.

The Upper Michigan Tourist Association, representing tourist operators and other business and industrial interests throughout the Peninsula as well as community and county governing bodies, took no official portion on a minimum wage bill considered by the Legislature earlier this year. But it is known that many of its members regarded the 1963 measure — as passed by the Senate but not by the House — as a potential death knell to their business.

Few, if any, oppose a minimum wage law. But they believe it should contain provisions that protect seasonal operators.

Don't Buy Herd Stock At Stockyard

Don't buy herd replacements at your local stockyards, say MSU livestock specialists.

There is usually a darn good reason why a farmer culls a dairy cow or heifer and offers her for sale at the local stockyard. She may be diseased or a non-breeder or an unprofitable producer. Even if she was healthy when she left the farm, she could be exposed to infection from other animals headed for the slaughter house.

"If for some reason you can't resist the urged to buy one of these culls headed for the hamburger pan, extra precautions should be followed," say specialists. "To be safe, have them blood tested at the yards. Then keep them isolated for at least 30 days before permitting them to mingle with your dairy herd."

Mackinac, Luce Join Schoolcraft Alger Health Unit

MANISTIQUE — Schoolcraft County Board of Supervisors Friday joined with the Alger County board in approving the formation of a four-county public health department with Luce and Mackinac counties.

Representatives of the two latter counties met with the Schoolcraft board here and Dr. Douglas Fryer, head of the local health services of the Michigan Department of Health. Dr. Fryer said the State Department of Health would approve the merger.

The four counties have a total population of about 37,400. State aid for the counties would remain at $5,000 each and federal aid of 3 cents per capital will be available to help finance the four county health department.

A committee is to be formed with representation from the four counties to recommend a structure for the new department. It will meet at 6:30 p. m. for dinner Sept. 5 in the Falls Hotel, Newberry.

Appearing at the meeting Friday were Alf K. Jackson, A. V. Kaurmaki, and Archie Pentland of Luce County. Representing Mackinac were Emmet Vallier of Naubinway and William Watts of Gould City.

Chippewa County has indicated to Luce and Mackinac counties that it wishes to dissolve the present Tri-County Health Department in which the three are members. Luce and Mackinac representatives have indicated that they will seek an Oct. 1 termination date for their participation.

All the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department records are handled in the Manistique office of the department in the Schoolcraft county clerk's office and the Luce and Mackinac representatives approved a continuance of this practice.

Dr. R. A. Tearnan, director of the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department, has endorsed the enlargement of the department.

Farm Renovation Provides Means For Competition

By JEAN WORTH

WAUCEDAH—Michigan State University farm specialists picked out the Iver Aldredson Farm here as one of the show places on the recent 4th annual Upper Peninsula Farm Tour.

The farm isn't an "agricultural plant of the future" sort of thing. Why was it picked as an example of good Upper Peninsula farming?

Presumably because Iver Alfredson and his wife Ella and their children have created a good life there. The hundreds of persons on the farm tour were impressed that this was true.

There's a new (1954) home on the farm, and a new silo, a barn cleaner, and some new sheds, but the farm plant isn't spanking new. Rather it is an example of the adaption of old buildings to better usage and that goes for the farm fields, too.

The crowd which assembled on the farm tour stoood between the dairy barn and a new machine shed and looked down a long hillside across strip crops of oats, alfalfa and corn. The farm has 330 acres with 174 of them cleared and where there's forest Alfredson is managing it as a tree farm.

"You can't always afford new buildings," he said so he's renovated the old ones. He has a herd of 35 milking cows and he doesn't plan to make it any bigger. A few years ago most American dairymen tried to hedge every expense increase or income drop by adding a few cows to the herd, but this gimmick, applied nationally, only enlarged the dairy industry's problem of surplus.

"I don't think so," said Alfradson when asked about herd increase. "Just better cows," he said.

He's got a big investment in farm machinery. "If it wasn't for FHA (Farm Home Administration—a federal government loan agency) I couldn't be here," he said. "I use some short term credit too."

The Upper Peninsula has lost a lot of its farms, as has the nation. There isn't the need for as many farms, because the good ones have become so amazingly productive. But America still needs farms and is in the economic process of wringing out the poor ones by making them unprofitable. Survival in farming requires sharp management and a considerable investment and even then the return for labor and investment won't be as large as in some other businesses, but this is a good way of life for persons who like its freedom and challenges.

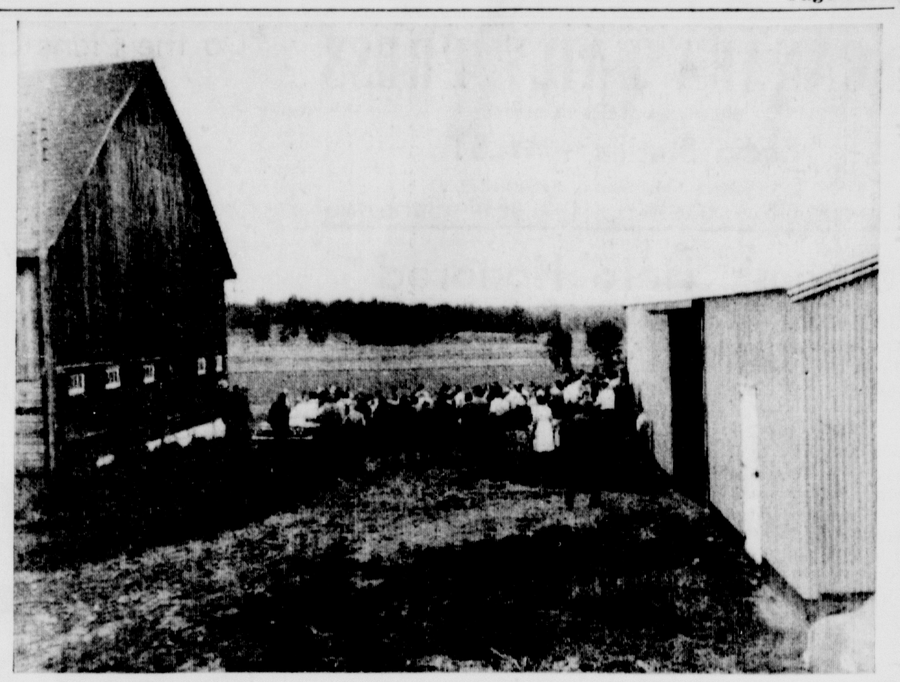
Alfredson's father, Carl Oscar Alfredson, was born in Varmland, Sweden and came to the United States when he was 18. He lived with an uncle in Iron Mountain, worked in the woods and in the mines. His son Iver was born in Iron Mountain. The father bought a little farm and moved his family into it when Iver was 7. There were 7 children in the family and the mother, too, had come from Varmland. Her maiden name was Anna Anderson and she came to America when she was three years old.

Iver wed Ella Van Pembroke of Aurora, Florence County, Wis., who was raised on a farm there. They settled on a small farm near Aurora and in 1956 bought the farm they're on now. It was opened by a man named Berg who cleared only 5 acres and built a house and barn. John Karpinsky was the next owner and he raised a family there and did most of the clearing.

Iver Alfredson still is clearing and he and his wife are raising a family of five there. Gerald is in his second year at Michigan State University. Judy, 18, has another year in high school. Joyce is 10, Carl 5 and Elliott 3.

Iver Alfredson will be 52 in September. He laughed as much as anyone when MSU farm economish Rick Hartwig told the farm tourists about the farmer who had a cow which limped sometimes. He asked a vet what to do about it and the veterinarian said "The next time she walks natural, sell her."

A/2c Michael C. Nordin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Nordin of Mounted Rte., Escanaba, left Wednesday for Wiesbaden, Germany where he will spend 128 days on a special trial project for the United States Air Force. Nordin, upon completion of his tour in Germany, will return to Vandenberg AFB, Calif. He is a graduate of the Escanaba High School, class of 1961, and enlisted in the Air Force in June of that year.



This is part of the crowd of hundreds on the fourth annual Upper Peninsula Farm Management Tour on its visit to the Iver Alfredson Farm at Waucedah. Visitors looked to the rolling fields beyond, strip cropped with alfalfa, corn and oats for the farm's dairy operation. An old dairy barn, renovated and enlarged, is at left and at right is a new pole type free span machine shed.

Annual Walk Of Mackinac Bridge Set For Sept. 2

The sixth annual Mackinac Bridge Walk scheduled for Labor Day morning, Sept. 2, will have two added attractions for those who make the 4½ mile walk over the Straits this year.

First, with the walk going from south to north this year (the direction alternates annually) alert St. Ignace businessmen will give away to bridge walkers more than 100 prizes valued at up to $100. In addition, transportation will be provided free from the bridge toll plaza to downtown St. Ignace.

Second, the Mackinac Island passenger boat lines are scheduling special trips directly from St. Ignace to Mackinaw City so that the bridge walkers can enjoy a boat ride as well as a hike across the Straits.

Traditionally, the Labor Day Walk is the only time when pedestrians are permitted on the Mackinac Bridge.

The general walk for those who do not wish to race will start promptly at 10:15 A. M. at the Mackinaw City (south) end of the bridge. Free bus transportation back to the starting line will be available for all those who complete the walk.

Visiting Youth Dies Suddenly

MANISTIQUE7 — Thomas Joseph Hill, 15, of Fort Wayne, Ind., who was vacationing in the Curtis area with his family, died suddenly Friday evening. The youngster is the son of the Joseph Hills of Fort Wayne. He had been playing in the yard of the resort where the family had been staying and collapsed suddenly.

The Manistique ambulance was called and the boy was given mouth-to-mouth respiration enroute to the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

The body was taken to the Messier-Broullire Funeral Home and will be sent to Fort Wayne.

Winfield, Scott City and Fort Scott, Kan., are all named for Gen. Winfield Scott, famed figure of the Civil and Mexican Wars.

Traffic Safety Meetings Set For Peninsula

Should Michigan have an official motor vehicle inspection system? How much and how vigorous traffic law enforcement will the public really support? Do we need a tougher driver licensing policy? Are our young people getting enough out of driver education? These will be some of the subjects for delegates to the Governor's Regional Traffic Safety Conferences to be held in seven Michigan cities starting Aug. 9.

The upsurge in fatalities, injuries, and property damage on Michigan highways during 1962 and 1963 have caused deep concern among citizens, officials, and traffic experts alike. Recent inquiries instituted by Governor Romney and Secretary of State Hare developed that most concern centered in the four considerations of law enforcement, vehicle inspection, driver education, and driver licensing.

The U.P. meetings will be at Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 16 and Ironwood, Aug. 19.

Nearth three fourths of the earth's surface, almost 400 million cubic miles, consists of water.

Economic Hero Honored

Speakers from Washington, D.C., and Menasha, Wis., and elsewhere said some fine things about Bruce G. Buell in Amasa High School Thursday afternoon, but the edge of the greatest comment on the labors for which he was being honored was to be seen from the windows of the school.

It was the Bruce G. Buell Tract of the tree farm of Marathon Division, American Can Co., a 93,000 acre forest which is one of the Upper Peninsula and the Lake States' pioneering projects in forest management.

Foresters bandy words and terms like "forest management," "wilderness," "sustained yield," "multiple use" and "allowable cut" about nimbly but the public seems still to have some widely held misconcepts about modern forestry. It keeps an image of slash and despoliation of woodland although its true new image is of park-like forest growing wood and beauty perpetually.

Bruce Buell bossed the development of Marathon's Amasa forest created in 1928. Much has been learned about forest management since then and a much better job is being done today than when the tract was started. The operations there have made a substantial contribution to the science of forest management and Buell has been a giant in Lake States forestry, a professional forester who had to make a showing in an industrial forest.

The implications of the success which was capped with the ceremonies at Amasa naming the tract for Buell, who retired last February, are very broad and transcend the financial and even social interests of Marathon Division. Because of the success of this venture and others like it, the Upper Peninsula is in a much better position to use its forest resource for the benefit of its people.

A dramatic demonstration of this is to be seen at Amasa, in Hematite Township, Iron County, which was settled to work three mines. All the mines are closed but the forest grows like Topsy under scientific management and should go on growing forever. The one fear for the future of the project expressed by Buell is the tax situation.

He described it as a public problem, not just a problem of forest industries. "Even with all the help that foresters can give her," said Buell "nature can only provide so much timber growth. The gross annual income per acre in this forest after 33 years of management is less than $1 per acre per year and 20 per cent of that is taken by local taxes.

"I know of a similar tract where local taxes take over 50 cents an acre. That tract is for sale and it has been looked at by several prospective purchasers and still there's no sale. We need pulp mills and chemical wood industries and particle board plans in the Upper Peninsula to use up our wood and local taxes are a limiting factor."

Finding The Way

Folly Of Comparison

By RALPH W. LOEW, D. D.

The art of comparison with one's neighbor is an ancient device. The Pharisee who insisted that he was not as bad as the publican standing in the corner is only one such example.

We've had a rash of such comparison morality in our country, with cities in various parts of the nation insisting that they're not as bad as cities in other sections.

The truth is that such comparisons are illogical and illusory. They tend to excuse a social sin or deflect an honest judgment. To have indulged in a moral indiscretion is not to be justified because one's neighbor is involved in two indiscretions.

It really doesn't matter whether we're worse or better than some other section. What matters is simply that there must be some brave men trying to meet the problems, some heroic souls who are holding the forces of violence in leash, some magnificent minds that continue to be at work. Whatever the city or community, we require:

- More initiative in meeting social problems and less public apathy.
- More staying with the problem instead of running away from it.
- More statesmanship in political affairs and less petty, miserable backbiting.
- More realistic planning and less make-do substitutes.
- More leadership from responsible citizens of all races before ruthless forces capture the frustrated.
- More open discussion between individuals and groups so that communication can exist within our own neighborhood.
- More imaginative courage and less pathetic retreating in confusion.

Scripture is filled with instances of the folly of trying to indulge in such petty comparison. Jesus took hold of great moral absolutes such as "Thou shalt not kill," and "Thou shalt not steal." His listeners were feeling complacent and comfortable. None of them had murdered a neighbor or robbed his purse. This easy piety was punctured by the moral insight of a positive action.

This is no time for any city anywhere to boast it is better than another, or to condemn a city by saying that it is worse than another. What is needed is a kind of moral discipline that keeps us looking at ourselves with the quality of honesty that comes from a precise and heroic faith.

As Paul Scherer has written, "We proclaim a Gospel that didn't get out of a feather bed to yawn its way sleepily through the earth; it got down off crosses, came stalking up out of fire, with the smell of flames on it." If we must compare, let's compare ourselves to the best.

INSTEAD OF IDLENESS

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—P. F. Beeler, a small-town banker, didn't like the idleness of retirement. So he got a job as an orderly at a Des Moines hospital.

Now, after 15 years on the job at the hospital, some of his best friends have just learned the meaning of the "P. F." It is Pleasant Fred.

Friends and patients say he is truly named.

"Do the Plans Call for a Living Room and Roof?"

Edson In Washington

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The National Draft Goldwater for President headquarters in Washington will announce the names of its first state chairmen and state organizing committee members within the next few weeks.

All will be regular Republicans with experience and recognized standing in the GOP.

The political importance of this strategy can hardly be overestimated. It will refute the contention of New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and others that the Goldwater drive is the work of right-wing extremists on the lunatic fringe.

There is no disputing that most of the enthusiasm for Goldwater now comes from grass roots supporters and political amateurs. There have been local Goldwater for President clubs in many communities for two years and more, but they have been unrelated, unofficial and outside the Republican party.

The second big job of the National Draft Goldwater Committee — to be done concurrently with setting up state, county and city organizations — will be to co-ordinate these independent local clubs with the regular party.

Many of these local clubs have been circulating their own petitions urging nomination of Goldwater as the candidate in 1964. Draft Goldwater headquarters also has petitions out, and it asks all signers for a dollar as their contribution to the cause.

There are around 100,000 signatures on these petitions now. The idea is to bring them all together. There is a blank state chart in Draft Goldwater headquarters now, waiting for insertion of the first state totals. The hope is to run the total number of signatures into the millions.

Peter O' Donnell Jr., national chairman of the Draft Goldwater Committee, and F. Clifton White, its executive director, head up the job of building this organization.

O'Donnell, well-to-do young Dalls businesman and Republican state chairman in Texas since 1956, knows all the GOP regulars. He is on the move, calling on national and state committeemen to line up responsible leaders.

White is a New York political science teacher and public relations man who has dabbled in politics since 1948 as a Dewey, Eisenhower and Nixon backer. He played a leading role in blocking Rockefeller's presidential ambitions in 1960. He wouldn't be averse to doing it again in 1964.

★ ★ ★

Some GOP state committees have a rule that their chairman must be a neutral, not backing any one candidate for political office before the primary or state convention.

In other states this is a ruling of the state executive committee, a custom that has been followed for years, or a personal preference of the state chairman himself.

In all such states, O'Donnell, White and their co-workers are forced to look elsewhere for Goldwater state and local chairmen and committeemen. But they are recruiting from the ranks of responsible Republican citizens who have the Goldwater conviction of conservation — not the crackpot extremists.

★ ★ ★

There is no assurance that Goldwater will allow his name to be entered as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in the New Hampshire primary next spring.

If he doesn't allow it, a group of his supporters may try to present his name anyway.

The importance of all this effort is that the Goldwater backers have obtained a big jump on supporters of Rockefeller and the other GOP possibilities.

Rockefeller, speaking before a few hundred rich Californians at Bothemian Grove, will make no appeal whatever to the rank and file Republicans he needs to win.

The Republican Citizens Committee, meeting at Hershey, Pa., even under President Eisenhower's sponsorship, is just as far removed from the great mass of voters.

Philosophy Mixed With Weather In Farmer's Almanac

Essentially, an almanac is a weather calendar for a full year. The Catholic Digest finds, however, that Maine's Farmer's Almanac owes its circulation of 2 million to snippets of philosophy sandwiched between its weather predictions, planting tables, zodiac signs, corny verse, and religious feast days.

For example: "The Brother who passes the potato chips in a monastery is known as a chipmonk."

"Alarm clock: a mechanism to scare the daylights into you."

"Gossip: one who usually gets caught in his own mouth-trap."

"Religion: used by many only as a fire-escape."

"Weather forecaster: someone with whom the weather doesn't always agree."

"A lot of kneeling keeps you in good standing with God."

"Eli Whitney to his wife: Keep your cotton-pickin' fingers outta my gin.'"

"June: the month when girls look at the bride side of life."

C-C Urging Attendance At Wage Hearings

Employers in the area are invited to attend hearings on minimum wage laws to be held Aug. 12 at Mackinac Island, from 2 to 4:30 p.m., and Aug. 13 in Escanaba from 1 to 4 p.m.

The Top O'Lake Chamber of Commerce is urging businesses and others in the community to be represented at the hearings, so all proposals submitted are as fair and equitable as possible, not rendering hardship on the employer or employee.

Medical Care Action Deferred

Action toward a medical care facility was tabled at the Friday meeting of the County Board of Supervisors, inasmuch as a question exists on federal aid and other factors.

Joseph Homminga of the Michigan department of health has advised a water pressure problem at the hospital location must be corrected before federal aid would be approved for construction there.

The board indicated other sites might be considered and some pointed out correcting the water problem would aid the community. A proposal for a tank to correct the problem was defeated in an election last winter.

The board indicated it wished the medical-care committee to continue its studies. Other factors cited in the decision to wait were that a site had not been selected and the new state constitution taking effect Jan. 1 contains changes on election requirements.

Car Sales Spurt Boosts Michigan Tax Revenue Total

LANSING (AP)—Clarence Lock, chief of the State Revenue Department, says he hopes for a one or two per cent increase in state tax revenue during the current fiscal year.

Tax revenue should at least hold around the current level, Lock told the House Taxation Committee.

Lock said final returns are not yet in from the past fiscal year, but estimated revenue at around $550 to $560 million. The good take was mostly caused by a seven per cent increase in sales tax receipts with most of the jump coming from a spurt in auto sales, Lock said.

Bernard Asks Air Franchise

A request for a franchise to establish commercial services and flight instruction from the Schoolcraft airport, along with present field services was presented to the Board of Supervisors Friday by Vern Bernard. The board asked that Bernard have a contract prepared, outlining the proposal and rates, and submit it for action.

Questions whether the board had to advertise for bids whether an exclusive francise was to be granted and whether this would interfere with proposed third level airline service were considered.

The board received a report on completion of the project to pave the East-West runway and possible future improvements, including directional devices, such as an H marker.

The board authorized the airport committee to spend funds not exceeding that in the airport budget for further improvements at the field.

Contact has been made with Robert Trombley, of Mequon, Wis., who is reported still interested in establishing feeder airline service, the board was advised.

FOR BETTER HOMES BUILD-REPAIR-REMODEL FOR BETTER LIVING

House of the Week

Split Reflects Demands

Farmhouse Motif: An appealing early American theme, accented by a covered portico with arched colonnades, provides a tasteful exterior for this handsome split-level. The house contains three or four bedrooms in over-all dimensions of 67'5" wide by 33'8" deep.

Every home, in some measure, is a reflection of the person who designed it. So don't be surprised if you recognize something of your own personality in today's House of the Week.

Architect Herman H. York decided to combine in this design the characteristic features of his six most popular house plans. The result, he trusts, is a blend of his talent and your taste.

The design, J-87 in the weekly series, offers the desirable aspects of both a split-level and a two-story. It has three bedrooms, four if necessary, and its dimensions are a modest 67'5" wide by 33'8" deep. The width can be reduced nine feet (to 58'5") by substituting a single-car garage.

"Homeowners seem to like the dramatic effects of multi-level living," York said, "but at the same time housewives don't like to be chasing up and down half flights of stairs all day long. In this respect, they prefer a two-story."

In today's plan York provided a slight three-step separation of the living room, dining room and kitchen from the rest of the downstairs—foyer, family room, den (or fourth bedroom) and laundry. The upstairs is eight steps above the raised portion.

The exterior carries out an early American farmhouse theme with brick and wood shingle side walls and asphalt shingle roofing. An arched colonnade softens the front elevation; its gentle curves relieving the rectangular lines of the rest of the facade. The bow window in the living room has the same effect.

The house is well within the medium category in over-all area. Its lower levels contain only 1,267 square feet of living area not counting the 460-square-foot garage and 88-square-foot portico. The bedroom level contains 687 square feet. The basement is located beneath the living room, dining room and kitchen.

Additional Details

The entrance to this house is fetching, both inside and out, and bound to create a good first impression.

The double front door beneath the covered portico opens to a large foyer whose floor planter and iron stair railing attract immediate attention. The foyer has a slate floor—striking to look at and easy to maintain.

There are two closets in the foyer. The second also is handy to the family room, ideal for storing bridge tables, folding chairs and the like. The den, adjoining the family room and foyer, also has a large storage closet.

A beam ceiling, fireplace, wood storage box and book shelves give the family room the sort of farmhouse charm anticipated by the exterior of the house. Architect York suggests a wood grained material for the walls, but if the budget would permit brick could be used for the entire fireplace wall; and it also is possible to steal some space from the garage workshop area for a built-in TV or hi-fi in the family room.

The living and dining rooms are set apart in a formal wing, with the large kitchen separating them from the informal area. A fireplace, shown as an optional feature, would greatly enhance the living room and simplify furniture arrangement.

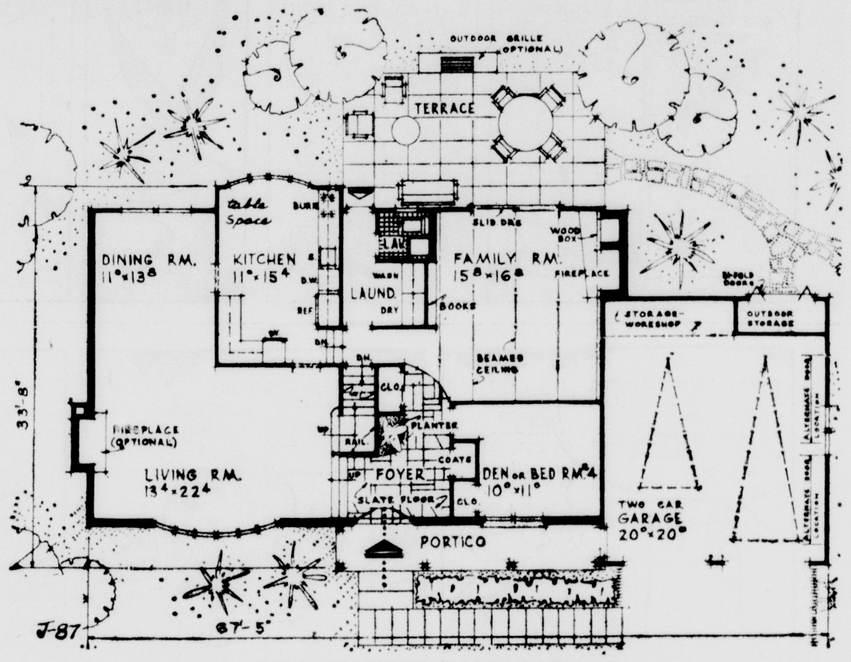
A floor-to-ceiling bow window assures plenty of natural light in the kitchen and makes an excellent setting for a breakfast table.

The kitchen work area is well planned and has plenty of counter and cabinet space.

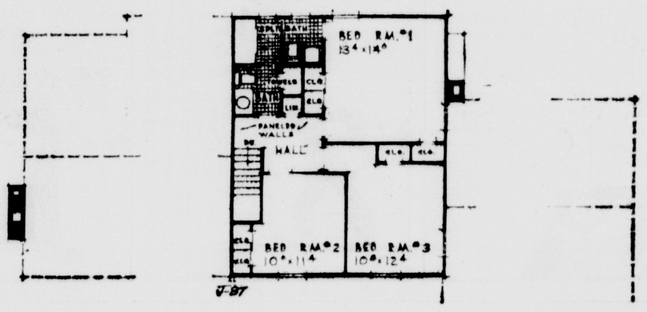
The most interesting feature upstairs is the bathroom ensemble. One economical unit is split three ways so that the master bedroom has an adjoining bath which shares a tub with the family bathroom. It's possible for three persons to use the bathroom at the same time, each with absolute privacy.

All three bedrooms are nicely proportioned and each has ample closet space. The upstairs hall also is large enough for the vacuum cleaner, clothes basket and other paraphernalia which collects there at housecleaning time, with elbow room to spare.

Some might want an accent color on the front door. "But if it were my house," said York, "I'd make the door white too."



Floor Plans: The lower levels contain 1,267 square feet of living area not counting the garage and portico. The bedroom level contains 687 square feet. The basement is located beneath the living room, dining room and kitchen.



Spacious and Bright: An impressive bow window overlooking the front yard assures plenty of natural light in this 13'4" living room. Visible beyond is the foyer with its slate floor and iron stair railing.

J-87 STATISTICS

A three or four bedroom split level containing 1,267 square feet of living area on the two lower levels not counting the 460-square-foot garage and 88-square-foot portico. Bedroom level contains 687 square feet. Basement is located beneath the living room, dining room and kitchen. Over-all dimensions are 67'5" wide by 33'8" deep. Alternate single car garage would reduce width nine feet, to 58'5".

Employment Up To 70.9 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employment in the United States rose to a new alltime high of 70.9 million in July while unemployment showed a substantial although seasonal decline for this time of year, the Labor Department reported.

Gertrude Bancroft, special assistant to the commissioner of labor statistics, said the number of jobless persons dropped by a half million to 4.3 million in July.

Th seasonally adjusted unemployment rate, she said, was 5.6 per cent in July, compared with 5.7 per cent a month earlier and 5.4 per cent in Juy 19 2.

The increase in total employment, termed a substantially better-than-seasonal-change, was in non-agricultural employment—including the selfemployed, unpaid family workers and domestics.

This category reached 64.9 million in July, Miss Bancroft reported, or 1.4 million higher than a year ago.

She said figures compiled thus far by the Labor Department do not include a breakdown on industries in which the big boost occurred. These figures should be availble in another two weeks, she said.

The over-the-month employment rise was concentrated among teen-agers and young adults aged 20 to 24, reflecting the high birth rate in the early part of World War II.

Despite the increase in total employment and the decrease in unemployment, joblessness around the country still was 300,000 higher than a year ago because of a rise in the number of young jobseekers over the year.

$430 Million Is Paid In Pensions In State Yearly

Nearly $3 billion in assets were held in 1960 by private welfare and pension plans having their principal offices in Michigan. In the same year, $787 million were contributed by employers and employes, and more than $430 million were paid out in benefits.

These Michigan figures are based upon reports filed with the Department of Labor in accordance with the Welfare and Pension Plans Disclosure Act, and are released in connection with a clinic on the plans being conducted in Detroit, Aug. 6.

For the nation, assets held in 1960 in these plans amounted to over $33 billion, while more than $7 billion were paid in benefits.

Six Career Changes Now Average For A Lifetime

ANN ARBOR — People without high school diplomas are in rough shape when it comes to the acid test of the labor market, Seymour L. Wolfbein, director of the Office of Manpower, Automation and Training, U. S. Department of Labor, said at the University of Michigan.

"Two out of every three people unemployed don't have a high school diploma," he said.

"A high school diploma is becoming a requirement for an increasing number of occupations," Wolfbein noted. "In spite of the growing need for this level of education, the U. S. Department of Labor has estimated that about 7.5 million young persons will be entering the labor market during the 1960's without completing high school.

"About 1.5 million young men and women without a high school education, who may be entering the labor market in 1964 and 1965, will be competing for jobs. Many of these young persons will not even have completed grade school."

"One of four dropouts was unemployed in 1962," Wolbein said. "This is one of the highest unemployment rates for any group in the labor force. Unless these young persons are able to secure additional training, they will probably become the nucleus of the future hard core of unemployed workers."

Wolfbein said many dropouts occur because the vocational courses are not up to date and sensitive to what industry needs.

"In the vocational arena, we need more responsive communication. Anything you can do to endow the school with a communication system which tells it what is happening in the work-a-day world is tremendously important. Many dropouts, after experience in the cold world of work, are coming back and asking for more education," he added.

Noting the need for skilled manual workers in the country, Wolfbein said, "We need five million more of these people and we are not getting them. We need to endow the vocational school with the status we want academic courses to have.

"Don't underestimate the skilled blue collar worker. He gets relatively high wages and is in tremendous demand. If something doesn't go off at Cape Canaveral it is not so much the scientific formulas that went wrong. It's the translation of those formulas into working models."

Discussing automation, Wolfbein said America is caught in a dilemma. "We have to support and accelerate automation or we will lose our competitive position among the other countries. For our own domestic growth, too, we have to keep up to date and even push ahead. Most of the trade unions feel the same way because they know their jobs will be lost if we don't keep up to date. We must push automation on the one hand; at the same time, we have to try to bring it about that there is as little hurt as possible to the workers."

Concluding, Wolfbein said current statistics show the average person will make six career changes during his working life. You can't prepare for an occupation and just go on in it. The changes occurring in our society are up-ending the occupational structure."

Eclipses Reveal New Facts On Sun

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Once in a while the moon sails through space in just the right path to make the sun blink.

When it momentarily blots out the sun in a total eclipse, astronomers will travel to the ends of the earth to watch.

Eclipses have revealed many facts they might never otherwise have learned because the sun ordinarily is such a blinding light. The eclipse of July 20—partially visible to millions of Americans—is expected to add significantly to the lore.

From past eclipses, Dr. Thomas D. Nicholson of the Hayden Planetarium in New York points out, scientists learned the sun has an atmosphere or corona millions of degrees hot, reaching millions of miles into space.

Eclipse studies showed there was helium on the sun, before that chemical element was identified on the earth. Now it is known that the sun burns by fusing hydrogen atoms into helium.

When the moon was centered on the sun, scientists for the first time saw solar prominences, the great licking tongues of gases loosed from explosive reactions on the sun.

In his theory of relativity, Albert Einstein predicted the gravitational field of such a massive body as the sun would bend or deflect light rays. During eclipses, astronomers confirmed this—light from stars visible in the "night" sky of the eclipse was deflected in about the degree predicted, compared with light from the same stars when the sun was not in that portion of the heavens.

This last eclipse probably was put under more intensive scientific study than any before, with some new techniques employed and—as usual — numerous scientific teams seeing their planning frustrated by rains or clouds.

Scientists are analyzing findings obtained with cameras, rockets and radio beams, spectrographs and other instruments. They hope for better understanding of the structure of the corona, its relationships to activity of the sun, of magnetic fields and storms on the sun, of changes in the ionosphere, the upper electrified layers of the earth's atmosphere.

They may win clues to the prediction of solar flares—which pour out great bursts of radiation that could be dangerous for space travelers—or possibly insights into subtle triggering actions in solar activity upon the earth's weather and climate.

State Briefs

LANSING (AP)—Michigan eggs are clean, reports the Agriculture Department. There have been no cases of intestinal infection attributed to unclean eggs with cracked shells in Michigan, although this type of illness has been reported in other states, the department said.

EAST LANSING (AP) — State police report there have been 147 drownings in 293 water accidents during the first seven months of the year. The death toll was up two from the same period last year.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Richard Anderson of Kalamazoo, Mich., will become executive secretary for the Human Relations Commission of Kansas City, effective Sept. 1. Anderson has been director of Community Relations in Kalamazoo since Nov. 1, 1961.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Samuel F. Yettt, a Negro, has assumed his duties as executive secretary of the Peace Corps. Yette was a city hall reporter with the Dayton (Ohio) Herald prior to joining the agency earlier this year in the public information division.

Ann Landers

Won't Quit Fags

Dear Ann: Our daughter is 35 years old, happily married, with four bright children. She has a beautiful home, and everything to live for.

Both her husband, her father and I are worried to death about her excessive smoking. She has been a heavy smoker since she was a teenager. Although she knew I never approved, she continued to smoke through the years.

Several months ago she was spitting up blood. She quit smoking and went to the doctor. When the X-rays showed no sign of cancer she went back to smoking two packs a day although the doctor advised her against it.

I'm so afraid she will develop cancer that it's making a nervous wreck out of me. She says she has smoked so long now that if she's going to get cancer she will get it. Period. What can I say to this head-strong girl? — WORRIED MOTHER

Dear Mother: Probably nothing. Anyone who can read or hear knows by now that there is a definite link between lung cancer and cigarettes. Scientific research continues to churn up more and more damning evidence.

Not everyone who smokes will get lung cancer, obviously, and your daughter may escape it. But worrying has been known to bury people prematurely, so try to get your mind off her smoking and on something else.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: That letter describing the prom committee system which insures all girls a date to the Junior-Senior Prom was the greatest. I'm going to take it up with our student council in September.

I happen to be a girl who never was short of dates, but I know some awfully nice girls who sit home all the time because they don't have sex appeal. Fellows won't even bother to ask them out and get to know how great they really are.

Thanks for printing that one, Ann it was tops.—JILL

Dear Jill: I'm glad you wrote. Here's another point of view:

Dear Ann Landers: That letter about the prom committee serving as match-makers was a real roar.

I'd rather sit home until my hair turned white and my teeth fell out than get fixed up by a stupid committee.

Who wants to be chosen out of pity? Not me.—SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS

Dear Spirit: I'll bet anything you don't do much sittin' home, Toots. It's difficult for a busy girl to imagine what life is like for the ones whose phones never ring.

In the meantime, if it takes a committee to get some of the fellows off their rusty dusties, I say why not?

* * *

Confidential to MY RIGHT TO KNOW: Yeah? Who gave you the right? When I form a "Mind Your Own Business Club" I'm going to nominate you for president.

* * *

Confidential to SCARED TO DEATH: Tell your mother at once. Do not try the drug your friend recommended. It is extremely dangerous and furthermore it won't work.

* * *

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS', "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Miss Mary Berish And Nicholas Vardigan, Wed

In a double ring ceremony preformed at 9 a.m. today at St. Thomas the Apostle Church Miss Mary Berish became the bride of Nicholas S. Vardigan of 1612 Stephenson Ave. Rev. Arnold Thompson officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Nicholas Berish and the late Mrs. Berish of 1604 Stephenson Ave. and the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Vardigan.

Miss Kathleen Berish and James Berish, niece and nephew of the bride were the honor attendants.

The bride's full length gown of silk bouquet taffeta formed a controlled goblet silhouette with a draped cummerbund at the waistline. Pearl embroidery and Alencon lace appliques adorned the scoop neckline and skirt and a double bow sash accented the back. Her three tiered bouffant veil of nylon illusion was caught to a hairbraid crown trimmed with pearls and highlighted by crystal beads. She carried a white prayer book with white carnations and pink sweetheart roses.

The maid of honor wore a nile green nylon organza gown with a scoop neckline with a petal effect. The dress was sheath style with a matching overskirt of nile green lace and organza. Her headpiece was the same color and was a large organza flower. She carried a colonial bouquet of mint green pompons and white glamelias.

Following the ceremony breakfast was served for the immediate members of the family at Marcoe's Stardust Lounge. This afternoon a reception will be held at Marcoe's Starlite Room after which the newlyweds will leave on a trip to an unannounced destination.

Mr. Vardigan and his bride will make their home at 1612 Stephenson Ave. He is employed by Escanaba Division, Mead Corp. The new Mrs. Vardigan is employed at the office of W. J. Winkler.

Organza Gown

The bride's gown was fashioned of pure silk organza over bouquet taffeta. It featured a scoop neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and a bell-shaped skirt. Appliques of Alencon lace trimmed the front of the skirt and bodice and the back cascaded to a full chapel train which was bustled for the reception. Her cabbage rose headpiece of matching silk organza was accented with tiny seed pearls and held a bouffant veil of pure silk English illusion. She carried a bouquet of stephanitis with feathered white carnations and ivy centered with a white orchid. Her only jewelry, a gift of the bridegroom, was a tiny pearl necklace and earrings.

The bridal attendants wore identical sheath dresses of petal blue sata peau with detachable overskirts draped softly around the hipline held by a bow in front. They wore small matching petal blue cabbage rose headpieces with tiny wisp veils. They carried crescent style bouquets of all white glamellias and roses with trailing ivy.

Mrs. Margaret Mallmann played the traditional wedding march and recessional for the bride who was escorted by her father.

Good Things Pile Up In Michigan For British Girl

DETROIT (AP) — After her brief hard luck, good things are piling up for tourist Gay Cooper.

The 20-year-old British girl, with six new $20 bills in a nice, new purse, left yesterday for a northern Michigan weekend as guest of another sympathizer.

The money and the new purse were among Detroiters' gifts to Miss Cooper after she lost $120 to a glib stranger in mid-week.

Mrs. Thomas Garred of Grosse Pointe Farms made Miss Cooper her guest at a northern Michigan cottage.

"I shall always remember this. Everyone has been perfectly wonderful," Miss Cooper said. "My friends at home shall certainly hear much of this."

She even got back her old purse, with papers intact. Police found it in a trash can in Cobo Hall where the stranger had taken it while posing as a guide.

CONSIDER A FUR HAT

If you don't want to spend the money for several fall hats, your best bet is to buy one in fur. You'll find that a fur hat can be worn with nearly everything in your wardrobe.

Gravy left over? You can add it to a meat loaf mixture instead of the usual liquid.

Pamper Parched Skin During Hot Dog Days

By ALICIA HART

Summer activities and your skin problems probably are reaching their peak together. With the dog days here, it is time to treat your parched skin to a refresher.

Start with a warm-weather cleanser. Just smooth it on your face and throat and work into the skin gently with moistened fingertips. Splash rinse and follow with a scented freshener. You will find this particularly cooling on hot, humid days. Saturate a cotton pad with the freshener and pat on the back of your neck, throat, forehead and arms several times during the day.

Since salt water and sun can dry the skin and cause wrinkles, be sure to use a moisturizing cream or lotion day or night.

But, don't stop with your face and throat. Arms, legs, thighs and shoulders need a soothing lotion to keep them smooth-looking while you relax in shorts or bathing suit.

Rapid River

Rev. and Mrs. George Olson and children are on a camping trip to Munising. They plan to stay two weeks.

Mrs. Mike Wunder was guest of honor at a pink and blue shower given Tuesday at the Congregational Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. John Schroeder, Mrs. Eleanor and Ethel Prueske of Park Ridge, Ill. are guests of Helen Wils at her cottage for a week.

FOR THE SNUG

If your waistline is less than slim, take advantage of the smart overblouse two-piece dresses. They are great for disguising a thick waist.

PORT HURON (AP)—One big inning was all Garden City West needed to become Michigan's Babe Ruth baseball champion.

Garden City West, which now plays in the Babe Ruth national regionals at Eau Claire, Wis., Aug. 6-10, finished the Michigan double elimination tournament with a 4-1 record. Northwest Detroit was 5-2. Garden City West's first opponent in the regional will be the Ohio champion.

Star Locker Room Backpatting Scene After Big Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — "Wowee," shouted hard-running fullback Ben Wilson, the first College All-Star player to get to the dressing room after a 20-17 victory over the Green Bay Packers Friday night, and that set off the general reaction among the youngsters who had their first taste of professional football.

"Great, wonderful, how about that, unbelievable." Those were the remarks shouted in the hot, steamy shower room.

Pat Richter, the All-America who took a pass from Wisconsin teammate Ron VanderKelen for a 73-yard touchdown play in the final quarter, admitted the All-Stars were only trying for a first down.

"Never mind," hollered head Coach Otto Graham, "we'll take it. Sure, we were going for the first down but anytime you try a play in football you're also trying to go all the way."

Graham moved through the dressing room slapping the players on the back and congratulating them.

"You know," said Graham, "a couple of days ago line coach Dick Stanfel said Ed Budde (Michigan State) was our best offensive lineman. During the game he told me they were all great and I have to agree with him.

"It's the best offensive line we have had since I've been coaching here," said Graham whose teams had suffered four straight losses at the hands of the professionals since an inaugural 35-19 victory over Detroit in 1958.

Graham refused to compare this squad with the 1958 team saying, "That's too tough to do but I can't say enough about these guys."

Asked why he switched to Glynn Griffing of Mississippi in the second half after VanderKelen had guided the team effectively in the first half, Graham said he wanted to give somebody else a chance.

"The fact that we had a couple of fumbles also went through my mind. It was all a tossup who would start at quarterback. All four guys are good. Terry Baker (Oregon State) and Sonny Gibbs (Texas Christian) can both throw.

"VanderKelen won the job the last few days. He and Griffing did so well I just didn't have a chance to use the others. I went back to VanderKelen because I felt he could do the job at that specific time.

Vince Lombardi, coach of the Packers, said: "We have no excuses. That was a fine All-Star squad and VanderKelen is a great pro prospect. He handles himself exceptionally well.

Lombardi said the Packers missed the services of injured linebacker Ray Nitschke and that full back Jim Taylor was not up to par.

"I tried to get Taylor out of there a couple of times but he managed to get back in there. Our morale was high but we simply couldnt get going.

Indians Dumped 10-9

Colavito Grabs Foul Ball To Save Game For Tigers

DETROIT (AP)—It was time you couldn't knock the Rock.

This has become a popular pastime at Tiger Stadium, for Rocky Colavito no longer is the idol of the Detroit fans. He has been the target of the loudest boos this drab season.

It's not the same as when he was winning games with his bat, his arm and occasionally with his glove.

Friday night the Rock won one with his head. His bat, glove and arm were big weapons, too, as the Tigers staved off the Cleveland Indians 10-9.

Colavito prevented what could have been the most distasteful defeat of a season in which the Tigers already have lost 59 games. He made a thinking man's catch after the Tigers had squandered seven runs of an eight-run lead. Cleveland was threatening to tie with runners on second and third.

The Rock made a risky catch of a foul when it could have been just as prudent to let the ball drop untouched in the left field bullpen.

"It passed my mind and then I decided to catch it because I knew I could make the play," he said.

It was the key play as the Tigers stopped a three-game losing streak in which they'd tallied only two unearned runs.

Detroit 10-2 lead, seemingly insurmountable as the eighth inning started, had been cut to 10-9 when Colavito made his catch for the second out.

Max Alvis hoisted a twisting foul above the bullpen dugout with Larry Brown representing the tying run on third, and Willie Kirkland on second.

Colavito backhanded the ball, smashed into the dugout and straightened up to make a strong throw in the vicinity of home plate. Brown tagged up, took a couple of steps toward home and retreated. The play drew the life from the Indian counterattack and Brown eventually died on third.

"A smart play," said Manager Charlie Dressen. The way they were hitting the ball we had to get them out anyway we could.

"Rocky got the ball away quicker than he does on balls on the ground. His throw wasn't near the plate, but Bill Freehan had plenty of time to get back and Brown would have been out by 15 feet."

Last year Colavito tried to make the same play in Kansas City and it cost the Tigers the game. He stumbled over the bullpen pitcher's mound while getting set to throw.

Two big innings and three homers provided the Tigers with sufficient insurance to withstand the the Indians' rally. Billy Bruton homered in the first.

Norm Cash opened the five-run second with a homer. Colavito hit a three-run homer as the Tigers padded their lead to 10-2 with four runs in the seventh.

But Jim Bunning came up with a blister in the eighth and the Indians attacked as if General Custer were pitching. Kirkland hit a leadoff homer and later a run-producing double. Joe Adcock slammed a three-run homer off reliever Fred Gladding before Colavito applied the stopper.

Terry Fox squirmed out of the inning, striking out Sammy Taylor with the bases loaded for the third out.

The Tigers play the Indians again today. Dressen named Phil Regan (6-6) to pitch against Dick Donovan (6-9).

Recreation Dept. Activity Program Well Attended

The Yankees handed the Kool Kats their first Junior League defeat of the season last Monday at Royce Park, 3 to 2, in a game marked by two unusual plays. The Yankees scored all their runs on a line drive which hit the bag at second base and caromed between the fielders for a three-run homer. In the last inning with the bases loaded for the Kool Kats, a pitched ball went behind the batter, hit the bat on his shoulder, and rolled fair. Winning pitcher Jack Johnson fielded the ball and threw it to first base for the final out of the game.

The Mets continue to dominate play in the American League and Lemmer No. 2 remains undefeated in the Beginners circuit. The Kool Kats lost again on Friday and were tied for first place in the National division by the Hurricanes.

The annual baseball picnic will be held at Ludington Park at noon on Wednesday, August 7. Boys are asked to pay the 50 cent fee to Paul Vardigan at Royce Park on Monday or Tuesday. Most teams will be limited to a single game next week because of the picnic.

Radatz Takes Loss From Senators 4-3

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick (The Monster) Radatz still is hissing, but suddenly it's beginning to sound like he's sprung a leak.

Punctured for the second straight time, the awesome Boston reliever met his match again in a David and Goliath setting as the Washington Senators popped their slingshots for a 4-3 victory in the second game of a doubleheader Friday night.

The Red Sox took the opener 5-0 behind Earl Wilson's six-hit effort before Radatz was beaten for the first time since May 12. Oddly, both of Radatz' losses on a 12-2 record have been to Washington. He has beaten every other club in the American League.

Making his 46th appearance, the 6-foot-5, 235-pound Radatz continued to hiss in his fast ball, but showed signs of weakening under the constant calls. In his last two outings, he has been roughed up for four runs and six hits in 3 2-3 innings.

While Washington was peppering Radatz, Robin Roberts again tured in an effective performance against his former New York teammates, beating the American League-leading Yankees for the third straight time, 5-3.

The Chicago White Sox moved to within seven games of the top by beating the Los Angeles Angels 5-1, Jim Hall drove in five runs in Minnesota's 10-3 walloping of Kansas City and Detroit made the most of Rocky Colavito's talents for a 10-9 edge over Cleveland. Houston cut Los Angeles' National League lead to 3½ games by downing the Dodgers 4-1, St. Louis took second with a 3-2 decision over Philadelphia, Chicago's Cubs upended San Francisco 12-11 in 10 innings, Cincinnati shut out Pittsburgh 3-0 and Milwaukee and New York split. The Braves won 8-0, and the Mets 3-1 in 11 innings.

Wilson, 9-11 for the season, backed his own pitching in the opener with a three-run homer that put it out of reach before the Senators' newly acquired reliever, Ed Roebuck, came on to stop the Red Sox.

Trailing 3-0 in the nightcap, the Senators struck for four runs in the seventh. Radatz came on after Jim King's two-run triple and gave up a sacrifice fly to Chuck Hinton that tied the score. He wound up a loser when Larry Osbore singled, moved to second on a walk and scored on Don Zimmer's single. Steve Ridzik was the winner.

Roberts, released by the Yankees without throwing a pitch in competition last season, spaced seven hits to bring his record to 10-9. John Powell tagged Whitey Ford, 16-5, for a first-inning homer, then the Orioles put it away with a three-run fourth.

Rookie Tom McCraw stroked a triple and two singles, stole a base and scored three runs for the White Sox and Juan Pizarro, 13-5, afer limiting the Angels to seven hits.

Green Bay Packers Lose To College Stars 20-17

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars, in an amazing 20-17 upset victory, have proved the mighty Green Bay Packers can be had.

Their demonstration before 65,000 fans in Soldier Field and a national television audience Friday night should throw the 1963 National Football League race into a more unpredictable tizzy than ever.

The Green Bay dynasty, built on two successive NFL championships, may be showing a crack. At least the All-Stars, beating the pros for the first time since 1958 and only the ninth time in the 30-year history of the series, have made the Packers seem human after all.

And guiding the college senior football greats of last season—who now scatter to NFL and American League clubs as pro rookies — was quarterback Ron VanderKelen of Wisconsin, a player none of them wanted.

Vandy wasn't even drafted. But after his sensational showing in the Rose Bowl game—although the Badgers lost to USC despite his record-making passing — he suddenly became popular. Winning the bid for his services were the Minnesota Vikings.

After the Packers had grabbed a 7-0 lead in the opening five minuts by recovering a Larry Ferguson fumble on the All-Stars 11 and sending Jim Taylor across from the 6, Vandy steered his team 57 yards. The drive—behind the running of Ferguson (Iowa - Detroit Lions), and the pass catching of Paul Flatley (Northwestern-Vikings) and Bob Jencks (Miami Ohio-Chicago Bears)—ended with Jencks booting a 20-yard field goal.

Before the first quarter closed Tommy Janik (Texas A&I-Denver Broncos) had stolen a Bart Starr pass and returned it to the Packer 27. Vandy hit his Wisconsin teammate, Pat Richter (Washington Redskins) for 21 yards. Then, in the first four seconds of the second period, Ferguson barreled over from the 5, and Jencks added the first of his two extra points to put the All-Stars ahead 10-7.

Green Bay's Tom Moore and Taylor lit a 59-yard push capped by Jerry Kramer's 21-yard field goal that locked the score 10-10. It stood that way at the half after Jencks' field-goal attempt from the Packer 19 failed when deflected by Herb Adderly.

After a scoreless third quarter, as Glynn Griffing (Mississippi-New York Giants) spelled VanderKelen and got off some nifty passes, the All-Stars again took the lead, 13-10, on a 33-yard field goal by Jencks.

Later, when Jerry Kramer's 37-yard field goal was wide for Green Bay, the most sensational play of the game developed. Vandy passed 20 yards to Richter near the sidelines, and the 6-foot-5 All-America end romped 53 more to score. The 73-yard play put the collegians on top 20-10.

With six seconds left, the Packers climaxed a 63-yard aerial drive with Taylor bounding over from the 1.

Defending Champs Of GLC Football Get Practice Call

It's that time of the year when the football call is in the air. High school and college coaches from the Upper Peninsula will get their chance soon to size up this year's crop of linemen, backs and benchwarmers.

Head football coach, Jerry Cvengros, of Escanaba Senior High School announced today that varsity football candidates of the school are to report to the varsity locker room of the new high school on Tuesday, Aug. 6, at 3 p.m. At that time equipment will be distributed to varsity candidates.

Physical exams will be given Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 in the new school gymnasium. All football candidates, grades 9-12 are asked to report at that time for examinations, a general meeting and equipment distribution.

Coaches Cvengros, Harold Johnson, Frank Miketinac and Dick Olivanti have set the first practice for Monday, Aug. 12, at the Athletic Field. The first Escanaba game will be on Saturday, Aug. 31, against Menominee on the Eskymo home field. The Eskymos have beaten the Maroons four consequtive years.

Last year the Eskymos wound up with a five win, one loss, and two tie season. They have taken the Great Lakes Conference Championship three years running.

The squad will have nine returning lettermen, and the coaches expect more than 50 boys to turn out for the sport this year. More than 30 players from last year's undefeated Jayvee squad will be moved up to the varsity, and a number of players from the varsity, who didn't get letters last year, will be working for a starting position this season.

Lead Cut To 3½ As Dodgers Lose

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Farrell is a big, strong, right-handed pitcher who makes a living beating the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Oh, sure, he does other things, even beating other clubs from time to time, to earn his paycheck from the Houston Colts. But beating the Dodgers is the big item and the one in which he takes the most pleasure.

He did it again Friday night, putting together a solid six-hitter in a 4-1 Houston triumph over the faltering National League leaders. The loss, the Dodgers' sixth in eight games, lopped a full game off their lead and reduced it to 3½ lengths over the St. Louis Cardinals.

It was Farrell's third victory of the season over his onetime teammates, about whom he had some harsh words when they dealt him away in the expansion draft.

The Cards closed up on a 3-2 decision over Philadelphia. They pulled out of a tie for second place when the Chicago Cubs surprised San Francisco 12-11 in 10 innings. Cincinnati blanked Pittsburgh 3-0 while the New York Mets and Milwaukee Braves split a pair. The Braves won the opener 8-0 and the Mets salvaged the nightcap 3-1 in 11 innings.

In the American League, Baltimore knocked off the leading New York Yankees 5-3, Boston won the opener 5-0 over Washington, but the Senators gained a split in the doubleheader with a 4-3 nightcap decision. Minnesota bombed Kansas City 10-3, Chicago beat Los Angeles 5-1, and Detroit edged Cleveland 10-9.

Farrell is 13-6 against the Dodgers for a career and 3-1 this season.

He struck out three Friday night, walked two and had a four-hitter going into the ninth when the Dodgers collected a couple of harmless singles. A two-run second-inning homer by Jim Wynn gave him all the working room he needed in beating Don Drysdale.

A spectacular, eighth-inning defensive play by Curt Flood saved the game for the Cards. The Phillies had one run home and John Callison, representing the tying run, on second base when Tony Gonzales doubled off the right-center field wall. Flood made a quick recovery, hit cut-off man Julian Javier, who threw out the sliding Callison at the plate.

Ray Sadecki spaced six hits over the eight innings he worked to win it.

The Cubs rallied for six runs in the eighth inning to tie it against the Giants, then won it on Jim Schaffer's two-out single in the 10th, which scored Ron Santo. Leo Burke had a three-run pinch hit homer and Ellis Burton a two-run homer in the Cubs' big rally that wiped out an 11-5 Giant lead.

Township League In Final Week

Next week will be the final week of play in the Township League Baseball Program. It has been a very successful program with 145 boys taking part in the 7 week long season.

The end of the season picnic will be held at Pioneer Trial Park on August 12th at 11:00 a.m. All boys who have not paid their 50 cent picnic fee are asked to turn the money in to Mr. Diedrich by Thursday of next week.

In the Beginners League during the past week the Tigers won a pair of games to deadlock the Cardinals for second place. The outstanding play of the week occurred when Gary Wellman of the Braves snared a red-hot line drive off the bat of Pat Pearson of the Cardinals.

In the Junior League the Orioles won two, the White Sox won one, Cubs split a pair and the Pirates lost 3.

In the Cadet League the Angels took two games from the Mets and now have first place to themselves.

Lightweight Lane Opens Training At Saginaw Gym

SAGINAW (AP) — Lightweight Kenny Lane opened training here Friday for his Aug. 19 bout with Paulie Armstead of Los Angeles which promoters bill as a championship battle.

The Muskegon southpaw, looking trim at 137 pounds, sparred four rounds in a ring pitched in downtown Saginaw. He performed before about 2,500 spectators.

Ringsiders said Lane appeared sharp. He came to Saginaw from New Orleans where he had been in training for three weeks.

Kenny's sparring partner was welterweight Irish Billy Collins of Detroit. Collins got the booking to work out with Lane since the Detroiter is going to fight southpaw Bryan Curvis in London in September and he figures lefthander Lane can help him.

The downtown ring, on Baum street, is part of the attraction of Saginaw's Timbertown Festival.

Armstead is due here at least seven days before the bout under contract terms. Promoters call the bout a title affair because of champion Carlos Ortiz failure to give Lane a title chance.

Stable-Hayward In Tonight's Fight

NEW YORK (AP — Welterweight contender Jose Stable risks his hopes for a crack at champion Emile Griffith tonight when he faces Stanley (Kitten) Hayward, an unranked ambitious youngster, in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Stable, ranked second by the WBA and fourth by Ring Magazine, is the betting choice over the Philadelphian who is making his debut as a Garden headliner and television fighter.

Hayward, 24, never has gone more than eight rounds in compiling a 16-1-1 record, including seven knockouts. His sole loss was a decision to Bruce Gibson, which he promptly avenged in his next fight. He has won eight straight.

Stable, 22, has swept his last four fights in boosting his record to 20-2-1, including six knockouts. The Cuban now lives in New York.

The bout will be telecast by ABC-TV, sarting at 9 p.m., EST.

Harding Practicing For Detroit Pistons

DETROIT (AP)—Cleared of a felonious assault charge Friday in Recorder's Court, 7-foot Reggie Harding now is free to concentrate on an attempt to win a job with the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association.

The charge against Harding was dropped following an examination before Judge Gerald Groat, who became convinced that the weapon Harding pulled on a bar bouncer in mid-July was a cigarette lighter and not a pistol.

The bouncer, McKinley Johson, testified that Harding pulled a pistol. Harding and his lawyer insisted it was a cigarette lighter, not a gun, which Harding produced and snapped.

U.S. Track Stars In Britain Today

LONDON (AP—If the American track team can shake off its airplane legs in time, it can wind up its European tour with a flourish here against a lightly regarded British squad today and Monday.

Even the American girls, much maligned after a dismal failure in Moscow, have a chance to make their battle with the English girls close.

The Americans, who flew in late Friday from Hannover, Germany, where they demolished a good West German team 141-82 are fit enough to run, but may be too track-weary to threaten any world marks.

The teams will rest Sunday—a day off for sports in Britain—and resume on Monday. Competition is at White City.

Forest Pay To Play Era Seen Ahead For U.S.

"If it were not for unprecedented imports of Canadian softwoods and Japanese hardwood plywood, our American lumber and hardwood plywood industry would now be at peak production," James C. McClellan, chief forester of the American Forest Products Industries, Inc., told the annual Upper Peninsula tree farm dedication assembly at Amasa Thursday in urging a forest buildup.

It was a sentimental journey from Washington for McClellan, who recalled that 14 years ago he attended the launching of the Michigan tree farm program in the Upper Peninsula at Carlson's Camp near Munising.

A highlight of the Amasa meeting of tree farmers and foresters was designation by Marathon Division of American Can Co. of 93,000 acres of its Amasa forest holdings as the Bruce G. Buell Tract, honoring the forestry leader who managed it for a third of a century and developed it into a showplace of Lake States industrial forestry. Buell retired in February.

Tree Farm Plan

The tree farm program is a system of private forest management to make woodlands more productive of wood for industry and recreation for the public. It is sponsored by forest industries and their foresters and those of the Michigan Conservation Department and other agencies give advice on forest management to tree farmers without charge.

"Today we hear so much about exploding population and soaring demand for recreation facilities," said McClellan "that many of our tree farmers may be wondering whether it is best to continue to grow trees for harvest, or to keep their trees and develop parks, picnic areas and the like.

"Surely there will be an opportunity for some tree farmers to make money from recreation and the time is not far off when recreation users will pay for what they get. A recent nationwide opinion survey indicates that 66 per cent of the people would pay now for recreation use on small ownerships and 59 per cent would pay on large ownerships.

Caution On Recreation

"But let me caution. Your chances of success in recreation are in developments around lakes or along good streams; about 75 per cent of our outdoor recreation is water oriented. Most outdoor recreation facilities require considerable investment of capital and your income from them is largely seasonal. Investigate very carefully before you take the plunge. Even though long-term, low interest loans are available from the government, there is no assurance of success.

"On the other hand tree farming — growing trees as a crop — will normally return a 4 to 6 per cent income on your investment. You have the risk of fire, insects and disease, but with the excellent protection record of your Conservation Department forestry division this is not a major problem. Moreover, timber harvesting will improve the food and habitat for most game on your property and particularly for deer.

"Eventually hunters will have to pay for their sport. In addition you may well devote a portion of your tree farm to recreational facilities such as a picnic area or leased camping site. Our recent opinion survey showed 30 per cent of people think that harvesting makes recreational use more attractive as compared with 22 per cent who think it makes recreation less desirable. Twenty-six per cent think it has no effect and 22 per cent have no opinion.

Side Benefits

"The growing of timber for harvest, while yielding the added benefits of recreation, wildlife, and increased water yields and soil stabilization, is known as multiple use. It is the cardinal principle of the American Tree Farm System. We will not have any more lands, so we believe it the best answer to our growing needs for forest products, recreational needs and the like in the years ahead.

"In our nationwide survey only 18 per cent of people had ever heard of the term 'multiple use' and only 4 per cent really understood what it meant. On the other hand when they were given three alternative ways of managing land, 68 per cent thought that management under multiple use was best.

"The survey revealed that 52 per cent of people thought that we already have enough forest land available for recreation, and, although the Wilderness Bill has been termed a vital national issue, only 4 per cent of the people had heard of it. Sixty-six per cent said they had never heard or read anything about wilderness.

Timber Surplus?

"In recent years there has been talk of a timber surplus in some localities. The question 'Are we growing more timber than we need?' has been asked. Quite possibly some of you may have had difficulty in marketing your products. Markets are soft in some areas now, but this does not mean we are going to have unmanageable surpluses of wood in the sense that we now have surpluses of wheat, cotton or corn.

"At the same time it must be recognized that all landowners will not be able to sell all their products of whatever quality or at whatever location at the exact time they wish and realize a profit.

It is essential that for a short period of time we grow more timber than we can harvest if we are to meet the needs of the years ahead. Fortunately, timber can be stored on the stump and it keeps growing. Our lumber consumption per capita has stayed about the same for 20 years, but we are adding more persons to the population every 7½ seconds. This means we need more lumber. If it weren't for unprecedented imports of Canadian softwood and Japanese plywood, our lumber and hardwood plywood industry would now be at peak production. These imports amount to about 15 per cent and 60 per cent of our consumption, respectively.

"But in the past 20 years the consumption of paper and paperboard has nearly doubled, hardboard has climbed from 1½ square feet per person to 15; plywood has quintupled since 1940. The demand for wood is rising rapidly and we are losing about a million acres of forest land a year to the bulldozer for roads, airfields, parks, industrial sites, reservoirs and suburbia and much of the land we lose supports excellent timber."

This is a demonstration plot of the Bruce G. Buell Tract on the tree farm of Marathon Division, American Can Co. at Amasa. Forester W. W. "Swede" Intermill of Chassell, right, inspects the signing which told tree farmer visitors on Aug. 1 the progression of the forest. A pine stump sign said it was cut in 1892, a yellow birch was cut in 1934, another yellow birch, right, was killed by disease. A maple was cut in 1959. Another maple was marked for cutting in 1971. The forest, under cycle cutting plan, appears like a park. (Gene Peterson Photo)

Missile Defense Looks Impossible

WASHINGTON (AP) — More nuclear explosions in the atmosphere would not help significantly in the effort to build an antimissile missile, a U.S. nuclear physicist said today.

"The problem is not one of developing nuclear warheads," said Dr. Ralph Lapp. "The problem is still one of ballistics and electronics. And all these problems can be pursued without atmospheric tests."

Nevertheless Lapp, who worked on the development of the first atom bomb but is no longer associated with the government's nuclear or missile projects, said these ballistics and electronic problems would be difficult to solve.

President Kensedy went even further at his news conference Thursday, saying:

"The problem of developing a defense against a missile is beyond us, and beyond the Soviets, technically. And I think many who work in it feel that perhaps it can never be successfully accomplished."

The President's remarks rang alarm bells in some Pentagon circles, particularly the army which has been pushing its Nike Zeus antimissile project for eight years.

Views among Pentagon officials range from the Army's unflagging optimism to severe skepticism of some Defense Department scientists and officials who also believe the technical problems may be insurmountable.

Th debate over development of an antimissile system has quickened again with the prospects of a U.S., British and Russian treaty banning nuclear tests in the atmosphere, as well as in outer space and under water.

Some critics of the agreement, military and congressional, have expresse fears the Soviet Union may be ahead of the United States in development of a defense against' intercontinental ballistic missiles.

School Opening Is Delayed Year By Visa Mixup

MENOMINEE — A mixup in the issuance of visas for the five nuns, who had planned to come here from the Philippines to staff the St. William's parochial school in September, will delay opening of the grade school until probably next fall, reports Rev. Fr. Thomas P. Dunleavy, pastor of St. William's church.

Fr. Dunleavy said he was advised today of the change by the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, bishop of the Marquette diocese, who said that the sisters appointed to come to St. William's had been unable to obtain visas in time for the school's opening in September. Bishop Noa advised the favorable action on the visas is expected to be taken next year.

The Philippines have a 14-year backlog of applicants for visas in the approved quota and in order for the sisters to come next year a special act of Congress may have to be passed.

Fr. Dunleavy said about 200 children were expected to be enrolled at the school. This will necessitate changes of pupil assignment for the public school system, which had been set up on the assumption St. William's would open in September.

House Approves Space Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

SPACE SPENDING: With only a ripple of protest, the House has approved spending $5.2 billion on space exploration this year. The roll call vote was 334-57.

This was a cut of $500 million from the $5.7 billion the National Aeronautics and Space Administration originally requested.

HOUSING BIAS: A government spokesman says President Kennedy's order barring racial discrimination in federally aided housing has not hurt homebuilding.

Some builders had predicted it would.

But housing asd Census Bureau officials reported Thursday residential construction is running 6 per cent above last year and the number of houses and apartments started in June was 10 per cent above June of 1962.

EMPLOYMENT UP: Employment set another record in July with 70.9 million holding jobs. It was an increase of 600,000 from June's record.

On the other side of the coin, the figures released Thursday showed the number of persons without jobs to be 4.3 million, down 500,000 from June, but generally only a seasonal decline. The adjusted jobless rate remained at 5.6 per cent of the work force.

Seiche Heaves Lake Michigan

CHICAGO (AP) — Lake Michigan's surface heaved gently Friday in a seiche caused by alternating changes in atmospheric pressure as a large, stormy squall passed across it.

Lake surface fluctuated as much as four feet in the span of four hours — first falling along the shore lines some three feet, and then rising to a foot or more above normal.

The unusual tide, however, did little apparent damage and caused no casualties such as the sieche of June 26, 1954, which swept scores of fishermen from piers and drowned eight of them.

The 1954 phenomenon was more severe, both in the atmospheric pressure changes and their rapidity than was the case Friday. The fatal tide brought a series of swells to the Chicago shoreline which raised the surface level five feet or more in a matter of less than a minute.

The first reaction, both on the Chicago shoreline and along the Michigan shore from the state's southern border to north of Grand Haven was a drop in the water level of about three feet. At Holland, the low water period bared some 100 feet of beach which normally is covered by water.

After this, the water rose gradually as a mound of high pressure following the rolling normal lake levels. No damage was reported.

Gogebic Fair Opens Aug. 15

IRONWOOD — The annual Gogebic county fair will open Thursday, Aug. 15, and will continue through Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 16-18, with a complete program of entertainment and horse races in addition to what is expected to be an outstanding display of livestock, farm and garden products, handicraft culinary an other household arts, and numerous types of displays.

Thursday is entry day for the fair.

New Owner Takes Over Herald Leader At Menominee

MENOMINEE — The Menominee Publishing Company this week began publication of the 100-year-old Menominee Herald-Leader with Roger Williams, formerly of Greenville, Mich., as president and publisher under new ownership.

The transaction, announced on July 10, was completed Wednesday between the new company and P. C. Munroe, president-publisher of the Herald-Leader, representing the estate of the late Roger M. Andrews. Munroe will remain as consultant for the new company.

Williams was born June 26, 1932, in Belding, Mich., and graduated from Belding High School in 1950. He began his newspaper career at the age of 13 as a printer's devil on a Belding weekly. He joined the Greenville Daily News 12 years ago and has been active as a reporter, photographer, circulation manager and business manager.

The Menominee Herald-Leader will be a century old on September 17. It was founded by Judge E. S. Ingalls.

Turncoat Soldier Has Pay Coming

WASHINGTON (AP)— In the news from Washington:

TURNCOAT: Lowell D. Skinner, an American prisoner of war who remained in Communist China after the Korean War, will have some back pay coming when he returns to the United States even though he was given a dishonorable discharge in 1954.

The army gave this word Friday as Skinner, 32, of Akron, Ohio, arrived in Hong Kong on his way home. He said he decided to return to the United States because of a lack of freedom in China.

At the State Department, press officer Robert J. McCloskey said Skinner is free to return and that his citizenship was not affected The Justice Department said the question of whether Skinner is liable for prosecution would be examined.

Free Fair Opens Sunday In Ionia

IONIA (AP) — The Ionia Free Fair, which charges no gate admission and admits everyone free to morning grandstand performances, will open its gates Sunday.

While the fair does not open officially until Monday, two performances have been scheduled Sunday by a thrill-driving troupe of autoists and most midway rides are to be in operation.

The fair runs through Saturday, and a parade through downtown Ionia will be an opening feature Monday morning. Wednesday has been designated Governor's Day.

"The Best in Everything," a grandstand show featuring comic Buster Keaton, will be staged every night, and Keaton will be joined by Johnny Desmond for the Monday Tuesday and Wednesday shows and by Molly Bee for those on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Army Increases Jobs In Detroit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says its total number of jobs in Detroit will be increased rather than decreased in a projected shift of personnel in auto supply operations.

A Detroit Democratic congressional group was told Thursday that 808 jobs will be abolished or taken out of the city but that 853 jobs will be created or brought into Detroit. The changes will be effective Jan. 1.

The Army's Defense Automotive Supply Center is involved.

The Army said the agency will be abolished and its services taken over by the Army-Tank Automotive Command.

The Pentagon scheduled a meeting in Detroit today to report the circumstances.

Loss of the agency had been deplored by Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh in a protest to the Department of Defense.

However, the congressional group, including Sens. Philip A. Hart and Patrick V. McNamara, said it had been assured there would be "no procurement loss and no loss in employment levels."

The group said it had been informed by the Defense Depart- that the move, part of a national reorganization, "consists primarily" of abolition of the title of Defense Automotive Supply Center.

Jobs reportedly are being shifted to Columbus with affected employes having the choice of stay-in Detroit with preference on hiring to new jobs.

Argentina Needs Oilfield Revenue

CRUZ DEL EJE, Argentina (AP)—President-elect Arturo Illia says foreign oil companies are needed to help develop Argentina's oil but their present contracts must be changed.

"For me it is a simple problem," the country doctor said in an interview at his hill country home Thursday. "The contracts are wrongly made. They go against the interests of the country.

"We have an organization — the State Oilfields, which suffers because of this."

During the election campaign, Illia said he would cancel oil contracts with foreign firms which include Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Oil and Union Oil. He has toned this down since, indicating that foreign capital would not be barred.

Illia said he would welcome a good will visit to Argentina by President Kennedy, but he would not want the visit linked to any economic differences between the United States and Argentina.

Economic problems should be left to economic representatives, Illia declared.

Deposed President Arturo Frondizi, released Thursday after 16 months' confinement, said he does not expect the military which caused his downfall to overthrow Illia.

Frondizi noted that Illia is a member of the People's Radical party which is closely allied to the military.

Tourist Business Reported Good In Marquette Area

MARQUETTE--Every available tourist accommodation within a range of 30 miles from Marquette was filled nine nights during the month of July, reports Wyndal H. Hudson, executive director of the Marquette Chamber of Commerce.

Most motel owners in the area report that this tourist season (June 15-Sept. 15) is the busiest that they have ever seen. They have been filled up 95 per cent of the time.

Some feel that if they had 50 more beds that they could still fill them, because they get so many calls for accommodations after they have filled up for the night.

The chamber has offered a new service to the tourists this summer by employing a girl to come on after 5 p.m., who at that time calls the motels, hotels and tourist homes to find out how many available beds they have left.

So, when a tourist stops in at the chamber, the chamber knows just where to direct them for a night's stay.

One of the reasons for the increase in tourists in the Marquette area is because the chamber has made them aware of attractions which can be found in Marquette, Hudson believes.

Troopers Will Not Direct Traffic At Fotball Games

EAST LANSING (AP) — State police troopers will not help direct traffic in Ann Arbor or East Lansing on football Saturdays this season, the department advised Friday.

Because of changes in work rules, troopers will be stationed at key points around the cities but will not help within the cities when University of Michigan and Michigan State University have home games, the department said.

Deadline Aug. 12 For Registration Of School Voters

Monday, Aug. 12, is the last day for voters to register for the special school election to be held Sept. 9 on the questions of financing replacement of the Frankline School and the consolidation of area school debt.

In Escanaba the city voter registration records will be used and voters not now registered may do so at the office of the city clerk in the City Hall. The registration deadline is 8 p. m. Aug. 12.

Voters in the townships of Cornell, Ford River and Wells, which, with the City of Escanaba, compose the area school district, are to register with their township clerk. The deadline in the townships is 5 p. m. Aug. 12.

Parolee Admits Livonia Holdup

DETROIT (AP)—"It's tougher to walk in here and tell you about it than it was to rob the bank," parolee John Wilbur Hipp, 27, said in surrendering to the FBI Friday.

Hipp surrendered at the FBI office in the $728 holdup July 24 of a Livonia drive-in branch of the National Bank of Detroit.

His next stop was in Federal Court. He was held in $25,000 bond after pleading guilty. Sentence is pending.

Hipp said he surrendered because he had spent all the money and expected to be caught.

He took the money from a teller at the drive-in window, demanding $1,000 in a note. He said he had no gun. The teller said he pretended he had one.

The U.S. attorney's office asked the high bond on grounds that Hipp was jobless, was on parole from a robbery armed sentence at Southern Michigan prison, and was separated from his wife and child.
